

YEAR OF THE GEMINI

In Chinese astrology, 2013 ushers in the “Year of the Snake.” Those of you versed in the subject also know that it is the WATER Snake. The “new year” for the Chinese culture begins on February 10 – right on the verge of the Miami Boat Show... a coincidence? Well let’s look a little further... the Snake is a thinker, expect great advancements in science and technology during her reign. With the water element, this Snake become smarter than ever before! Seems quite appropriate that the new Gemini Legacy 35 would be born into such a year.

Humor me here, let’s do a little “East Meets West”... but first, a quick history lesson on how the Gemini got her name. Performance Cruising founder Tony Smith named the design after his wife (and mother of now company President, Laura Smith Hershfeld) Sue’s, birth sign. Bet you all thought it was because it has two “identical” on the outside yet “fraternal” on the inside hulls. Not everything is always as it seems... sounds like a fortune cookie!

When you combine eastern astrology of the Snake with the western zodiac sign of Gemini... you are, again, given a catamaran “personality” where everything is not as it seems! Gemini Snakes are very versatile intelligent thinkers, able to talk their way out of any situation, especially confrontations. They are witty and have a great sense of humor. Intellectual and always eager to learn, they are well-read individuals who have a wealth of knowledge pertaining to everything under the sun. They generally make great friends with their own unique take on matters and situations and try to dispense valuable advice and a listening ear when you need one. They are popular and navigate well in society.

Let’s compare a couple of Gemini’s enhancements to the personality profile just mentioned. The aft cockpit is much more user friendly, offering more space for social gathering and ease of maneuverability. Sugar scoop access is easily achieved by the complete redesign and reconstruction. It minimizes the effort of raising the dinghy as well as any water activities. Finally, the traveler has been relocated to the top of the hard top bimini, having all lines feed into the cockpit insures swift maneuverability of the boat... sounds like “great advancements in science and technology” along with being “popular” and able to “navigate well in society” to me!

This is why, we here at MULTIHULLS Magazine have re-named 2013 the “Year of the Gemini!”
